Kate Millett & what you may want to know about feminism.

Kate Millett was an American feminist writer, educator, artist, and activist. She attended the University of Oxford and was the first American woman to be awarded a degree with first-class honours after studying at St Hilda's College, Oxford. She has been described as "a seminal influence on second-wave feminism", and is best known for her book Sexual Politics (1970), which was based on her doctoral dissertation at Columbia University.

Kate during a consciousness-raising-group issued this litany.

"Why are we here today?" the chairwoman asked.

"To make revolution," they answered.

"What kind of revolution?" she replied.

"The Cultural Revolution," they chanted.

"And how do we make Cultural Revolution?" she demanded.

"By destroying the American family!" they answered.

"How do we destroy the family?" she came back.

"By destroying the American patriarch," they cried exuberantly.

"And how do we destroy the American patriarch?" she probed.

"By taking away his power!"

"How do we do that?"

"By destroying monogamy!" they shouted.

"How can we destroy monogamy?"

"By promoting promiscuity, eroticism, prostitution, abortion, and homosexuality!" they resounded.

Bonnie Blue and Only Fans are the natural consequence of this thinking of female independence and empowerment.

Cases of sexually transmitted infections (STI) that are resistant to antibiotics are on the rise in England, health officials have warned. Experts say that the surge in resistance could one day make STI "untreatable".

Not all about equality then, well done feminism.

Don't expect humanity from totalitarianism, oh look here come the Spetznas